Incoming Fusillades: Incoming Fusillades is a miniatures-based FPS for Fantasy Grounds by Luke Herzog. Incoming Fusillades: Brawler has inspired XCOM/X-Com like gameplay, where you command the defence of a small town in dangerous shooter. You must use your team of up to 5 miniatures to defend your residents against ruthless invaders, who are equipped with the ultimate arsenal of weapons, bombs, missiles and flamers. With your weapons you must counter attack the hordes of incoming enemies from several angles, whilst you'll have to resolve combat encounters with your miniatures. The game is able to support 5 different miniatures types. The game also includes several 15mm scale war figures, capable of being brought to life and used in combat with your miniatures. Included in the box are the figures, accessories and tokens required to play. Incoming Fusillades: Brawler is a fast paced FPS game, played in a turn based format where each miniatures turn is resolved. There are no dice and therefore, no chance of a "worst case scenario". For those of you who'd prefer a "Horde Games" style game, where the players compete to kill each other, you'll be pleased to know that there is a "co-op mode" to play this way as well!
